When I am asked if Colombia is dangerous, my answer is very clear: yes, it is....

The danger is that you want to stay forever.

I'm Nicole, I was born in Bogotá in 1985. A year later, my parents left the country to give my brother and me a better future. At that time, Colombia was going through a wave of violence: drug trafficking and guerrilla warfare were causing a lot of damage to the civilian population.

I grew up in Switzerland, a very safe country, surrounded by beautiful mountains. My school language was French, but I never forgot my roots and my mother tongue: Spanish. As I grew up, my love for Colombia grew too. I studied Spanish-American language, culture and literature at the University of Geneva.

In 2010, at the end of my degree, I made the "crazy" decision to return to my home country.

Ivana, my best friend from university, was the one who encouraged me in this undertaking. I took with me the only thing I had: my university degree, two suitcases and a lot of illusion to return to Colombia. In October 2010, the project of my life began, Centro Catalina Spanish School, a concept that brought together all my great passions: Language, culture and my beloved home country: Colombia.

I invite you to be part of this story, where each of our visitors takes with them a little piece of Colombia in their heart.

If you have already been to Colombia once, then you already know the answer, it is obvious that you want to come back. If you have never been, just know that travelling to Colombia can be dangerous: there is a great risk of falling in love and wanting to stay longer.

In short, Colombia is a country whose natural diversity is overwhelming: Caribbean, Andes, Amazon, Pacific, deserts and plains are spread throughout its territory. # Medellin, modern city in the andes

Medellin, a modern city surrounded by the Andean mountain range, offers a wide range of activities. The city of the “eternal spring” is appreciated for its climate and enjoys pleasant temperatures of around 25°C all year round. Nightlife, gastronomy, ecotourism and many other facets allow this beautiful city to be qualified as one of the best in the whole country.

In Medellín, the school is located in the famous El Poblado neighbourhood, the city’s urban development area par excellence. Bars, restaurants, discotheques and shopping centres are just one street away from our facilities.

With more than 700 square meters, this house is one of the rare examples of traditional housing still present in this city in constant growth.

Cartagena, pearl of the Caribbean Sea

Cartagena, pearl of the Caribbean Sea, is a unique example of colonial history. With a tropical climate (30°C) and a population of mixed race descent, Cartagena is mostly a sample of Afro-descendant culture, which predominates through gastronomy, folklore and customs.

In Cartagena, we are located in the beautiful colonial streets of the historic centre. Surrounded by the sea and the city walls, the San Diego area has the privilege of being home to both tourism and local life: shops, squares and markets, all in the middle of a magical and charming setting.

With 6 classrooms, a small cafeteria and a colourful courtyard, our school in Cartagena enchants with its family atmosphere.

Testimonials

66 I followed a 5-week Spanish course at Centro Catalina. I enjoyed every minute of my classes without getting bored or tired. In an informal and young atmosphere with well prepared teachers. I was easily guided to the language and culture of South America. Cartagena is a beautiful city, lively day and night and safe enough to leave you relaxed, fun and stress free! Thanks to that very "Latin" touch I can't wait to go back and take my Spanish to the next level. See you guys later! 99

Mario Brunetto - Italy

66 I was in Cartagena for two weeks studying at Centro Catalina, you were the perfect vacation, a lot of fun, jokes and adventures, we went out to visit different places, all the staff were very nice people who always went out with us, nice people always ready to help. Good songs to learn, laughing all the time and marking every moment in the school. A relationship of friendship and respect among all. The dancing activities are good to interact and have fun. A big hug to everyone. 99

Joselito - Brazil

66 Cartagena is a beautiful city in Colombia that hides an ancient and accurate world. I had a great time describing Colombia through many excursions and studies. I had two great teachers who were always very prepared, who encouraged me to study and who made the classes very interesting. In short, I would recommend Centro Catalina to everyone who wants to study and discover Spanish and Colombia at the same time. 99
